Major Jarold “Tom” Johnston, a Graduate School of Nursing student in the PhD in Nursing Science program, is the U.S. Army’s only male midwife and lactation consultant. In these roles, he’s been the go-to guy for thousands of new mothers and fathers with questions about pregnancy, labor, breastfeeding and baby care for the past six years.

Upon completion of this offering, the participants should be able to:

1. Explore the history of paternal involvement in childbirth and their value to the breastfeeding relationship.
2. Advocate for recognition of fathers as equal partners in breastfeeding and parenting relationships.
3. Identify effective teaching strategies to prepare fathers for their role as breastfeeding coaches.

CEUs and CERPs will be provided upon program completion. Free to KLIC members, $10.00 to all others requesting CEUs/CERPs. Pre-registration is requested but not required for KLIC programs. Contact Karen Aubrey at vice-president@klicbreastfeeding.org or (502) 744-7924 with questions about the program, location or weather/cancellation questions. In the case of severe weather, KLIC reserves the right to postpone and/or cancel the presentation. You are invited to attend if you are an IBCLC, RN, RD, LPN, MD, LLL Leader/Member or other individual caring for and/or interested in the nursing mother and infant, especially in high-risk situations.
